

What is a Science Slam?

A Science Slam is not your regular research report! It is an exciting, easily accessible, and slightly humorous 5-minute talk that helps present your research to a general and professional audience.

Who can participate?

Master's and PhD students, as well as early-stage post-docs, who can present their research in an accessible and entertaining manner.

How to participate in the competition?

There are only 10 time-slots available for the Science Slam.

To compete for the opportunity to take part in Science Slam, please submit a 1-minute promo clip (slides or video + accompanying audio) of your proposed presentation to sol-gel-conf@itmo.ru. It should be accessible, entertaining, and inspiring.

The 10 chosen participants will present their scientific research on August 29, 2019, live on stage!

The best presentation will receive a prize in an awards ceremony on August 30, 2019.

Application deadline: June 30, 2019
